Transform the Student Experience

Advising is at the center of student success. Students want advisors to understand their whole story, from academics to personal challenges to career goals. They need a copilot for their journey.

For students, this helps create a sense of belonging, which is a key driver of student retention.

A Unified Approach for Advisors

Salesforce Advisor Link helps advisors be more efficient and proactive, so students can be more successful. From a single-screen interface, advisors can have richer conversations with students and better understand the issues that matter most.

With real-time insights, collaborative tools, and a platform for engaging students on every channel, your advisors can help students go further.

Knowledge Articles: Recommendations

- Push these out by including article links in communications with students
- Keep a running list of frequently asked front desk questions and email inbox questions
- Write the articles from the student perspective
  - How are they asking for the info?
  - How would they search for the info?
  - Consider splitting up long articles
- Monitor the number of views
  - If views are low, review the article for length, title and/or relevancy
- Review stages of academic year and common questions that come up at each stage
  - What additional articles are needed?
  - How can we keep the content timely?
- Think about the information you are sharing with students in conversations/meetings
  - What might be relevant to a broader audience?
  - What might make sense to move to MyWharton?

- Replicate content posted on Facebook
- Think of it as social media – it's about consistency of posting
- Select the most specific group you can
