Going Virtual
Education, Networking at your fingertips.

Co-located with Geosynthetics Conference
IECA Annual Virtual Conference & Expo 2021, co-located with Geosynthetics Conference, brings together professionals in all facets of the erosion and sediment control industry to connect, network and discover new products and services on the show floor.

Gain access to IECA’s qualified attendees who are civil engineers, environmental professionals, contractors, regulators, designers, installers and make key decisions about the use of erosion and sediment control materials.
An Evolving Audience

IECA Annual Conference and Expo will feature the entire erosion/sediment control supply chain making up the attendee pool. Gain access to civil engineers, contractors, regulators, designers, installers and erosion/sediment control practitioners at this specialized event.
A Robust Technical Program

IECA Annual Conference and Expo features technical papers that will cover key information about the uses, research, design and case studies involving erosion/sediment control materials and uses. These papers are of extreme value to attendees and are used by researchers, academia, designers and engineers. They are published in the proceedings and help spread the vast knowledge and use of erosion/sediment control techniques.
Like a physical show, attendees visit to gain valuable information and access to new products, services and suppliers.

IECA Annual Conference and Expo Features:

- High quality education.
- Networking: Meet prospects in your booth, network throughout the event in education sessions, receive leads from booth traffic.
- Sourcing: Find new products, new solutions to help you with your projects. IECA Conference exhibitors will be on-hand to help with product questions, solutions for upcoming projects.
Okay, I’m In(terested).

There is no better way to bring attention to your company than through a virtual exhibit space at IECA Annual Conference and Expo co-located with Geosynthetics Conference. Choose your own virtual booth package - there’s something for every budget and goal.
