

LIMITED POWER OF ATTORNEY

A Limited Power of Attorney (LPOA) is a legal document that entitles one or more people to act on behalf of another person for certain purposes. You should speak with your financial adviser about the financial implications of an LPOA, and a solicitor about the legal implications of an LPOA.

 - a. apply for, complete and execute the application form to open accounts (including a cash management account or investment account) with any bank, financial institution, or financial service providers (including with an ASX Participant) ('Accounts');
 - b. provide the Client's tax file number and other information about the Client as is necessary to open the Accounts.;
 - c. access, deduct and pay from my Accounts all authorised fees and costs to settle all investment purchases;
 - d. access the Accounts to pay in proceeds from the sale of Client investments and the receipt of dividend income from investments and any associated rights belonging to the Client;
 - e. enter a CHESS Sponsorship Agreement with an ASX Participant to enable trading in ASX-listed securities and authorising an approved stockbroker to direct debit my Accounts for this purpose;
 - f. provide instructions to facilitate transactions on my Accounts to my broker and the relevant third party and, instructions relating to corporate actions on any ASX and international listed securities;
 - g. buy, apply or subscribe for, accept transfers or rollovers of investments and any associated rights by completing and executing application and/or transfer forms (which may include a power of attorney);
 - h. sell, transfer, arrange for the rollover or request the repurchase or redemption of investments and any associated rights belonging to the Client, by completing and executing redemption or transfer forms;
 - i. change registration details of the Client's investments and any associated rights in the Client's name;
 - j. operate the Accounts in all respects including without limitation making payments to third parties on the Client's behalf;
 - k. close Accounts, where necessary;
 - l. provide or complete any tax or tax related documentation required in any jurisdiction including but not limited to US tax or tax related documentation; and
 - m. do all things necessary or expedient to give effect to the actions (as the Attorney sees fit) referred to above.

The Attorney hereby agrees to such appointment and to act in accordance with such appointment.

2. The Client hereby agrees and acknowledges:
 - a. to ratify any acts done by the Attorney;
 - b. that anything done by the Attorney pursuant to this LPOA will be binding on the Client as if those acts had been done by the Client;
 - c. to indemnify and keep indemnified the Attorney against all claims, losses and expenses arising from the proper exercise of this LPOA;
 - d. that this LPOA will remain in full force and effect until notice of the revocation of this LPOA is received by the Attorney and any person or corporation dealing with the Attorney may accept in good faith a written statement signed by the Attorney to the effect that this LPOA has not been revoked as conclusive evidence of that fact;
 - e. that any Notice of the revocation of this LPOA must be in writing and delivered to the Attorney. Any Notice of revocation will not affect or terminate any actions already undertaken by the Attorney;
 - f. that the Attorney may exercise its powers under this LPOA even if the Attorney or one of its associates benefit from the exercise of that power; and
 - g. that the exercise by the Attorney of any power under this LPOA does not imply an assumption of personal liability by the Attorney on the exercising of the power.
