Good afternoon, hospital leaders.

Happy Monday! The following are more tools to help you, and your team better educate clients on the importance of parasite prevention.

The Companion Animal Parasite Council offers tools that enable you to drill down to the county level in any state, displaying the prevalence of specific parasites. So, if you hear that we don't have heartworm or Lyme disease in my state, you can say, 'Let's take a look!' and point it out on the map.

The Companion Animal Parasite Council (CAPC) is an independent, nonprofit organization dedicated to raising awareness about the threat that parasites pose to pets and their owners. By generating and disseminating credible, accurate, and timely information for the diagnosis, treatment, prevention, and control of parasitic infections, CAPC works to educate pet owners and veterinary professionals.

Don't forget! Dr. Jacquie Neilson, DVM, DACVB, will present a live webinar on Thursday evening, 6:00 PM - 7:00 PM Pacific Time, on April 17, titled "Puppies and Parasites." This presentation will examine parasite risk and prevention through the lens of puppyhood, encompassing puppy behaviors, socialization, and the formation of the human-animal bond. In addition to an entertaining and educational webinar, 1.0 RACE-approved CE hours are available, Elanco SWAG is rumored, and a $100 Amazon Gift Certificate will be raffled. You don't want to miss this one. Sign up today and invite your whole team. A flyer with the registration link is attached.

This is an exciting opportunity to offer complete parasite prevention to our patients and enroll them in wellness plans.

Thank you for all you do - you are the heart of WellHaven!
